

Biography

Michael A. Devine is the Gas Product/Marketing Manager for Caterpillar Inc.'s Electric Power Division. In the 38 years he has worked for Caterpillar, Michael has been in a variety of roles including manufacturing, service engineering, electric power product development, project management, and education and training. Involved in the field of electric power generation since 1979, Michael has spent the majority of this time working to develop power generation products to serve the load management, distributed power, quality power and low energy markets. During this time he has traveled extensively developing power projects and educating utility companies and users worldwide on the benefits of distributed generation, cogeneration and the use of renewable fuels in reciprocating engines.

Phone number: (765) 448-5954

Email: devine_michael_a@cat.com